Holland-American Bakery Opens Second Store in Beautiful Rolling Hills Plaza

Holland-American Quality Bakery, in existence three years in the Village in Redondo Beach, has expanded its operation and has set up a second bakery in the newly-opened Rolling Hills Plaza.

"We really like this location," youthful owner, Jack Schat said. "We already have five trucks on routes servicing the hill-dwellers, and we feel that we can give them even better service from this store."

"And we want to make new friends," he said. "We've got something very special to sell, and we'd like to get acquainted with the people in Lomita and South Torrance, too. We make such good bread and cookies and cakes that it seems a shame to keep it out of the mouths of anyone in the whole South Bay."

COOKIES
Specializing primarily in bread and cookies, the new outlet has a brand new stainless-steel oven, with a glass window so that customers can actually see the merchandise they buy as it is baked.

Bread will be baked three times a day, thus insuring absolute freshness. More than seventeen varieties of bread will be baked on the premises, and more than thirty varieties of cookies. Perhaps the most famous cookie pro-

"I want people to know that all Holland-American products are hand-packed and hand-wrapped," Schat said, and that we never use any preservatives." The store will be open every day but Sunday.
